FEATURES AND BENEFITS

- Not intended for highway use as the expected miles of wear from the racing compound is greatly reduced.
- The drag racing-specific compound was engineered for increased traction at the starting line.
- The enhanced sidewall construction combined with high-modulus bead filler and large shoulder blocks increase straight-line stability.
- Large solid center rib provides a continuous contact patch for dry traction.
- The rubber compounds used in these tires have unique properties that, when compared to other tires, can cause them to lose some of their flexibility when used or handled in conditions below 15 degrees F (-9 degrees C). This loss in flexibility can lead to potential cracking and other damage to the tire. For more information, please contact Nitto USA at 888-529-8200.
